

Dallas Hiram DUI — admin update

September 29, 2026 · For Martin and Mark · From Jason Lowery

Today's change is on the DUI Prospects list. Common names were coming back with dozens of contacts, many of them in Florida. Staff can now hide those out-of-state addresses and see how trustworthy each remaining contact is.

Where to look

Open the admin site, then Outreach, then DUI Prospects:

The old address `admin.dhdui.com` does not work. Use the link above.

Georgia addresses only

A new switch labeled “Georgia addresses only” sits on the Prospects list.

- Turn it on to keep only people who have at least one Georgia address. Florida and other out-of-state addresses drop out of the list. They are not deleted. Turn the switch off and they come back.
- The count tells you how many of the current prospects have a Georgia address.
- Inside a person's record, only Georgia addresses show at first. A link lets you reveal the out-of-state ones.
- The switch starts off, so people who do not have an address yet (the open-records queue) stay visible. Once you turn it on, this browser remembers that choice.

Match confidence

Each address, phone, and email now shows High, Medium, or Low, plus a short reason. The list has a Best match column so you can see the strongest Georgia contact without opening every record.

- High means a Georgia address in the county where the person was booked, with a complete street, city, and ZIP.
- Medium means a usable Georgia contact that is weaker, or a record that looks like several people were merged together.
- Low means out of state, incomplete, or otherwise a poor match. Do not use a Low address for a postcard.

The score uses the contact details already stored. It is not a new data pull. A “Why?” line shows the points behind the label if you want the detail.

Quick check after you sign in

- Turn on Georgia addresses only. All-Florida names should leave the list.
- Open someone who had many contacts. The Georgia address should be first and marked Best match.
- Use Show out-of-state addresses if you want to see what was hidden.

What did not change today

- No new counties. Paulding is still the source.
- No Facebook audience, clinical-evaluation funnel, or custom CRM.
- Randy's phone app and the weekday pending-message email shipped yesterday and were not changed today.

If a badge looks wrong on a real record, tell Jason which name it is. The weights can be adjusted without a new data source.
